League of Voters Sends Questionnaires to Those Seeking Election to State and National Legislatures

Organization Is Neutral

Mary Garrett Hay, Chairman, Says Purpose Is to Guide Voters at the Polls

The New York City League of Women Voters, of which Miss Mary Garrett Hay is chairman, yesterday sent out the first of the annual questionnaires for the candidates of all parties who are to run for national and state offices.

Candidates for the Assembly and the State Senate are asked the following:

Are you for or against—
1. Restoration of the direct primary
2. Revision of the laws so as to remove present legal disabilities of women, so that women may serve on juries, may have an equal right to be appointed administrators of the estates of deceased persons, and to hold public office?

2. Repeal of the Lusk bills (a) requiring loyalty tests for teachers, (b) requiring the licensing of private schools.

3. Change in the state party organization law providing for two state committees from each Assembly district.

4. Revision of the laws so as to remove present legal disabilities of women, so that women may serve on juries, may have an equal right to be appointed administrators of the estates of deceased persons, and to hold public office?

5. An enabling act to take advantage of provisions of the Sheppard-Towner maternity act?

6. Administration of schools by boards of education independent of city government?

7. An eight hour day or a forty-eight hour week for women and minors in factories and mercantile establishments, a minimum wage commission to determine a living wage for working women and minors in various industries and localities, and the abolition of night work.

8. Payment of a bonus to all World War veterans?

9. A tariff for revenue only, a tariff sufficiently high to shut out foreign goods from American markets and protect American industries, or a permanent non-partisan tariff commission?

10. Federal provision for the removal of illiteracy throughout the United States?

11. Adequate financial support for the children's bureau, the women's bureau is the Department of Labor and the home demonstration work in the Department of Agriculture?

The answers to the questionnaires will be printed with the records of the candidates and will be sent to thousands of women voters throughout the city.

Real Service, Says Miss Hay

"The league feels," said Miss Hay yesterday, "that it is rendering candidates as well as women an important service, since through the questions propounded the candidates find out what interests thousands of the women who will be asked to vote for them, and who later may become their constituents."

"As we maintain an impartial non-partisan attitude toward all the candidates and treat them all exactly alike, they can with reason feel that what data are given will be used exactly as they would wish it used, to give the voters accurate and authentic information as to what the nation and women who aspire to the running of our government feel on important matters that concern our general welfare."

Masked Men Rob Card Players on 11th Floor

Four Hold Up Elevator Operator, Then Take $225 From Six Men in Game

Four men entered a loft building at 28 West Thirty-eighth Street about 8:30 p. m. yesterday while one guarded, Benjamin Winds, elevator operator, with a pistol, the others slipped on masks and held up a card game in Frederick M. Loeffler's hat factory on the eleventh floor.

There were six men in the card game. The hold-up men took about $100 from Loeffler, $75 from David Fink, a jeweler, and about $50 from each of the other four players. The hold-up men then took the elevator which their look-out was holding for them. He took $5 from Winds.

Fink had a revolver, for which he has a permit, and fired several shots from the window to give the alarm.

The robbers, who were speeding away in an automobile, evidently thought the shots were intended for them and two of them turned in their seats and fired in reply. None of the bullets hit any one, but the shots attracted considerable attention.

Army to Find Out Cost Of Saving 12 War Plants

Samuel Vaucian Suggests Subsidy for Owners of the Idle Factories

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—An investigation to determine the cost to the government of maintaining munitions plants built during the war as a measure of national defense is now to be made by the Ordnance Department of the Army, Secretary of War Weeks disclosed today.

At a conference with Samuel Vaucian, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, of Philadelphia, and a director in war-time plants now lying idle.

Mr. Vaucian had proposed to the War Department that the government pay the owners of this idle property for so long a year on the money invested, so that the property can be held in readiness for use in the event of an emergency.

During the war private munition plants were constructed important factories for the manufacture of war supplies. Upon the signing of the armistice these plants were discontinued, and thus far there has developed no peace-time work they can perform.

The child was one of about 100 who had been taken to the park for an airing by the Sisters of Mercy, of 348 East Twenty-second Street.

George Ernest, twenty-three years old, of Franklin Street, Hempstead, was in Mercy Hospital, Hempstead, last night in a dying condition, and Mrs. Stella Hillman, twenty-four years old, of North Belmore, and Mrs. Martha Sendkowitz, twenty-nine, also of North Belmore, were in the same hospital in a serious condition following a mishap to a motorcycle driven by Ernest.

Patrolman Houk, of the Roosevelt police, said Ernest had made a wager with a friend to race him on a motorcycle from Hempstead to Freeport. Ernest had just purchased a new machine and he had given his friend a ten-minute handicap in the race.

Mayor's Wife Wouldn't Have Him Governor

Mrs. Hylan Returns From Europe and Tells Her Husband to Stick to City Hall and Brooklyn

That Makes It Final

Grandchild Absorbs Attention of Homecomers When the Liner Docks

Mrs. John F. Hylan, wife of the Mayor, who had been abroad on a trip of six weeks, came home yesterday on the French liner Paris from Havre and after a two-minute talk with her husband informed him that she hadn't the slightest desire to move to Albany. She said she would rather have him divide his time between City Hall and Brooklyn and let some one else preside over the destinies of the state.

The Mayor laughed, and with his arm still around the waist of his partner for thirty-two years he said to the newspaper men: "Did you hear that? Mrs. Hylan said she would rather have me stay here in this city, so the Governorship is settled now."

Mrs. Sinnott, the Mayor's daughter, who left her thirteen months' old son in charge of her father, went at all interested in politics. As soon as the Mayor and Commissioner Grover Hylan boarded the Paris down the Bay from the Coast Guard cutter, Mrs. Sinnott wanted to know all about the baby. Why didn't daddy bring him down to meet her? Was he in good health, and how did he get along with school? Mrs. Sinnott was more interested in the two teeth that the baby was expected to cut than she was with the affairs of City Hall.

Baby Center of Interest

When the matter of the teeth came up yesterday on the promenade deck of the Paris the Mayor remarked with some show of pride: "You needn't bother about those teeth, for both came through yesterday."

The Mayor explained to his daughter that he would have brought his grandson down the Bay to meet her, but the hour of departure from the Battery was a bit too early for him, so he compromised with the little fellow by letting him go to the French liner pier at Fourteenth Street and the North River in the care of his great-aunt, Mrs. George O'Hara.

When the vessel docked and the Mayor's baby found haven in the arms of his mother the Mayor came ashore. As soon as his grandson saw him he protested at the apparent neglect of the city's chief executive and compelled the latter to take him into his arms.

New York Girls Come First

Mrs. Hylan and her daughter expressed delight over their return to New York. They said that in all their travels they had seen no girls quite as attractive as those of New York.

As the Paris steamed up the Bay Mayor Hylan put his arm around his wife's shoulder and led her to the rail. "I'm awfully glad to have you back," he said. Then, turning to the group of friends beside him, the Mayor remarked that his wife is his best pal.

"We have been pals for thirty-two years," he said, "and will celebrate the thirty-second anniversary of our marriage September 24. Mrs. Hylan needed a rest, but if it were not for the good of her health she would not have gone abroad."

Another traveller on the Paris was Mrs. Ina Clair Whitaker, the actress, who had been abroad for the summer. She said she would soon start rehearsals for a new three-act comedy by Arthur Richman, called "The Plain Truth," which is to be produced under the direction of Gilbert Miller.

Among others on the vessel were Messrs. Kendall, Mrs. G. B. Williamson, Richard E. Dwight and Major General Robert Lee Bullard, U. S. A.

"Dud" Shell Wounds Woman

May Die From Hurts Sustained When Souvenir Explodes

BRISTOL, N. H., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Fred Tenny, forty-five years old, is at the Franklin Hospital seriously hurt, a victim of a "dud" shell. The shell exploded when she knocked it over while dusting a bureau on which it stood. She was alone in the house at the time. The shell, eight inches long, had been in the house only three weeks. A piece of the shell lodged over her right eye, the sight of which will be lost if Mrs. Tenny recovers. The shell scattered completely when it exploded and other pieces lodged in various parts of her body, while the fingers of her right hand were blown off. Mrs. Tenny was found by neighbors, who were attracted by groans coming from the house.

Found Murdered in Street; Bootleggers' Feud Suspected

Angelo Cocuzza, of 1035 Madison Avenue, Elizabeth, N. J., was shot through the heart early last night at Spring and Fanny streets, in the Italian quarter of the city. Residents heard the shot, but averred that when they ran from their homes there was no one in sight save Cocuzza, who lay dead on the sidewalk.

It is thought by the police that he may have been shot in a bootleggers' vendetta. The revolver with which he was shot was held so close to his side that his clothes were singed.

U. S. Not Boss Of New World, Says Peruvian

Dr. Victor Andreas Asserts That Monroe Doctrine Must Be Limited to Keeping Nations Independent

More a Moral Force

Recognition of Mexico Would Do Much to Create Good Feeling, He Believes

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 19.—Latin-American peoples cannot accept an interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine which gives the United States the hegemony or supremacy of Western continents, Dr. Victor Andreas, professor at the University of Lima and a member of the Spanish Royal Academy, told the Institute of Politics in a speech on diplomatic relations today.

"The Monroe Doctrine," said Dr. Andreas, "can only be the expression of the solidarity of all the peoples of the countries of America in defense of their independence."

"Many writers believe that in the policy of the United States, as in the policy of any state, there is perpetual conflict between the moral factors and the economic factors; that the economic factors only will determine surely an imperialistic policy, but that there is a hope that the moral factors will control the economic forces regarding the policy of the United States toward South America. The signs of the prevalence of this moral factor are, for instance, the treaty with Colombia, intended to heal the wound of the Panama question; the restoration of the government in Santo Domingo and the growing public opinion in behalf of the policy of a good understanding with the Latin-American peoples and the respect of the principle of equality."

"Nothing can foster the good relations between the United States and Latin America so much as a step like the recognition of the Government of Mexico that has the consent and support of its people, the help of the union of all Central American countries in one nation and a devotion to Hayti of its independence."

"Besides that, there are two questions, the recognition of new governments and the loans afforded to them, that have much to do in the relation of the United States with South America and in the application of a doctrine that is connected with the Monroe Doctrine."

"It is the doctrine of solidarity in democracy. In the solidarity for democracy the subjects are not the states, but the free institutions of the nations; the link is not political, but only moral, and the means are not treaties or ententes, but currents of public opinion. In spite of the moral character of this theory, it has political effects, on the ground of the recognition of the governments and the loans."

"Our theory demands the collective recognition of the new governments by all the people of America after a thorough study of the origin and development of these governments from the point of view of the principles of democracy. Solidarity for democracy demands the following of a new policy, based, first, on the collective action of all the countries; second, on the moral and not the economic criterion applied to the recognition. We answer the objection about the collective action, stating that every day this collective action is more possible and it is the only way to acquire a true knowledge of the conditions of a new government."

"We answer to the other objection about the difficulties in the determination of a moral criterion, stating the only condition that we demand are relative to the essential institutions of democracy, as the liberty of the press, parliamentary freedom, respect of judicial power and so on."

Col. Beatty, Pioneer Flyer, Gets Divorce in Paris

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Attorney Al Legend announced today that a divorce had been granted George William Beatty from Genevieve Patricia Beatty, of 2810 Broadway, New York. The divorce became effective in France on June 12. Judgment was given by default in the Eighth Court of the civil tribunal of the Seine.

George W. Beatty was a pioneer aviator and had a flying school near Minicola, L. I., in 1911. On March 28, 1912, he established a record by carrying five passengers in his biplane. His first wife obtained a divorce in 1911 and the custody of their daughter. A few days later Beatty married Genevieve O'Hagen. The following year she had him arrested on a charge of beating her and they lived apart for a month, after which there was a reconciliation.

During the war Beatty entered the British air service and attained the rank of colonel. His first wife had him arrested in St. Louis a year ago, alleging he had failed to support her and their child.

Girl of 5, Hit by Truck, Cries for Lost Penny

Crowd Makes Up $5 Purse and She Departs in Ambulance, All Smiles

Gertrude Lynch, five years old, of 191 Newark Avenue, Jersey City, was given a penny by her father yesterday afternoon to purchase a lollipop. As she was crossing the street she was struck by a truck. Joseph Chariet, of 288 Third Street, the driver, put on the brakes, but Gertrude's foot was pinned beneath one of the rear wheels. Chariet and the girl's father, who witnessed the accident, succeeded in releasing her. She was crying.

"Are you hurt much?" inquired the father, holding the child in his arms. "No," sobbed the girl. "Can you stop crying?" asked the father. "Not until I find my penny," she sobbed.

A crowd of men and women chipped in and made her a present of a 5¢ bill. An ambulance then arrived and took her to City Hospital.
